

Mark Borgschulte

University of California, Berkeley
Department of Economics
508-1 Evans Hall
Berkeley, CA 94720

mark@econ dot berkeley dot edu
markborgschulte.googlepages.com
(510) 847-2818

EDUCATION

University of California, Berkeley, 2007-
PhD Candidate, Economics
Advisor: Emmanuel Saez
Fields: Public Finance, Economic Demography, Labor Economics

University of California, Berkeley, 2003
BA, English

RESEARCH

“Retired and Loving It: Retirement Age and Longevity” (in-progress, 2011)

“Disease and Development: The American-Led Construction of the Panama Canal” (in-progress, 2010)

“HIV and the Demographic Transition in Sub-Saharan Africa” (working paper, 2007)

PRESENTATIONS

“Retirement Age and Longevity,” Population Association of America Annual Meeting, April 2011;
UC Berkeley Economics, Labor Lunch, March 2011; UC Berkeley Demography, February 2011

“Disease and Development: The American-Led Construction of the Panama Canal,” UC Berkeley
Economics, Development Lunch, February 2010

Panel on Post-Election Violence in Kenya, UC Berkeley, Center for African Studies, February 2008

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Lecturer University of California, Berkeley	Intermediate Macroeconomics	Summer 2010
Graduate Student Instructor University of California, Berkeley	Advanced Intermediate Microeconomics Prof. David Card	Fall 2010
	Public Economics Prof. Emmanuel Saez and Camille Landais	Spring 2010
	Intermediate Macroeconomics Prof. Martha Olney	Fall 2009, Summer 2007
	Economic Demography Prof. Ronald Lee	Spring 2009

FELLOWSHIPS AND GRANTS

Dean's Normative Time Fellowship, UC Berkeley, 2011-2012 (awarded 2010)
NIA Training Fellowship, 2010-2011
Institute for Business and Economic Research, UC Berkeley, Dissertation Grant, 2010
NICHD Training Fellowship, 2008-2009

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

UC Berkeley Economics, Development Lunch, Organizer, 2010-2011
UC Berkeley Graduate Economics Association, Chairman, 2008-2009
UC Berkeley Economics Graduate Student Admissions Group, 2010